INSTRUCTION

Material for Acquainting Pupils with the World-wide Task

I. PROGRAMS

Centenary Programs

Carefully graded monthly programs designed for use during the worship period. One course on Methodist home missions for presentation from September through December; another on Methodist foreign missions for use from January through June. Four separate graded series provided in each course, as follows:

Series 1. For the Young People's and Adult Department (this program being adapted for use also in the one-room school, and where several departments meet together for their missionary programs);

Series 2. For the Intermediate and Senior Department;

Series 3. For the Junior Department; and Series 4. For the Primary Department, with suggestions for the superintendent of the Beginners' Department.

Each of the four series is printed in a separate leaflet.

These Centenary Programs provide the most effective way of informing

Sunday School members on the Centenary task. The course on home missions, written especially for use from September through December, contains the following programs:

Series 1

I. Home Missions and Fair Play for the Working Man.
II. Retreat! Defeat! Advance! Which?
III. They Come Bringing Gifts.
IV. The Church at the Crossroads and in the Village.

Series 2

I. Those Who Toil for Us.
II. Converting Derelicts into Transports.
III. The Stranger Next Door.
IV. Our Great West.

Series 3

I. A Service for Crusaders.
II. A Service of Citizenship.
III. A Service of Brotherhood.
IV. Friends from the Great Southwest.

Series 4

I. Partners in a Large Task.
II. Our Churches.
III. Americans from Other Lands.
IV. The Children Far Away.

Price, 5c the series, postpaid

Other Programs

Missionary Program Material
by Anita B. Ferris.

For use with children under twelve. Contains a chapter on the principles of program building; two specimen programs; and stories, simple dramatic exercises, recitations, and games—classified under different countries.

Cloth, 50c

Five Missionary Minutes
by George H. Trull.

A most practical handbook for creating a missionary atmosphere in the Sunday School. Contains material for fifty-two Sundays, on both home and foreign missions.

Cloth, 50c

Missionary Programs and Incidents
by George H. Trull.

Series Two of Five Missionary Minutes.

Cloth, 50c

Sunday School Program Material, based on Men and Things
by Hazel A. Lewis.

Twenty short selections on the various groups of industrial workers arranged for the general session.

Paper, 15c

II. Leaflets

To aid in the introduction of the weekly plan of missionary giving in the Sunday School, and to state the Centenary task to the different age-groups in language and form best understood by each, the following beautifully illustrated leaflets are provided, free, for distribution to pupils. You are requested, when ordering, to send sufficient postage to cover carriage, and to state the exact number needed for each department.

Making Jesus Known
For young people and adults.

A World-wide Work
For intermediates and seniors.

Future World Citizens
For juniors.

Friends of Ours
For beginners and primary pupils.

In installing the weekly missionary offering, use the special Centenary program furnished free for that purpose; also the Centenary envelopes and pledge cards listed under Supplementary Material on page 16.

III. Books

NOTE: Material on foreign missions is listed without sign. A cross (†) marks material on home missions. An asterisk (*) marks material that is both home and foreign.

For young people and adults
(ages 18 and up)

† Christian Democracy for America
by David D. Forsyth,
Ralph Welles Keeler.

The standard book on home missions for use during the Centenary. A timely discussion of a theme of paramount importance. A comprehensive yet vivid statement of Methodism's varied task in America.

Paper, 50c; cloth, 75c

The Christian Crusade for World Democracy

by S. Earl Taylor,
Halford E. Luccock.

Companion to the above; the standard book on foreign missions for use during the Centenary. A gripping presentation of world-needs, and a ringing challenge to Methodism.

Paper, 50c; cloth, 75c

NOTE: Every Sunday School member over eighteen ought to read these two remarkable books. Many younger will be interested. If Methodism is to accomplish her world-task, her people must KNOW. For information that is boiled-down, to the point, and interesting, these books have few superiors.

Foreign Missionaries in Action

by L. O. Hartman.

A brief Centenary course of thirteen lessons for adult classes. The history and progress of Methodist foreign missions in terms of outstanding personalities.

Paper, 15c per copy; $1.50 per dozen; $10.00 per hundred.

Christianity and World Democracy

by George Heber Jones.

Another brief Centenary course of thirteen lessons for adult classes. Presents the world-strategy of Christian missions.

Paper, 15c per copy; $1.50 per dozen; $10.00 per hundred.

† The Christian Conquest of America
by Ralph Welles Keeler
Ellen Coughlin Keeler.
An adult course of thirteen lessons which will appear in the Adult Bible Class Monthly during October, November, December, 1918, and will be available in pamphlet form thereafter.
Paper, 15c per copy; $1.50 per dozen; $10.00 per hundred.

Ancient Peoples at New Tasks
by Willard Price.
Presents a graphic description of the industrial life of foreign mission lands, and emphasizes the relation of Christianity to the needs and opportunities among the workers of the world.
Paper, 40c; cloth, 60c

† The Gospel for a Working World
by Harry F. Ward.
A fresh and stimulating discussion of the industrial situation in the United States and of the home missionary task before the Christian forces of the country in applying the teaching of the gospel to conditions and relations in the world of work.
Paper, 40c; cloth, 60c

For intermediates and seniors
(ages (12) 13-17)

NOTE: Seniors ought, in many cases, to use the two official Cen- tenary books listed for young people and adults.

† Brother Van
by Stella Wyatt Brummitt.
The fascinating "Pathfinder" story of Dr. W. W. Van Orsdell, pioneer Methodist preacher and missionary, who has had a long and adventurous career in Montana and the Northwest. Intermediates will find it of great interest.
Cloth, 60c; paper, 40c

† Men and Things
by Henry A. Atkinson.
Describes in vivid and concrete terms the daily life of our principal groups of industrial workers and shows how the Church is attempting to meet their special needs.
Cloth, 60c; paper, 40c

Makers of South America
by Margarette Daniels.
Sketches of twelve epoch-making leaders in South American history: Pizarro, Anchieta, San Martin, Bolivar, Thomson, Gardiner, Rosas, Sarmiento, Don Pedro, Trumbull, Penzotti, and Grubb.
Cloth, 60c; paper, 40c

† Winning the Oregon Country
by John T. Faris.
A mission-study book of sterling value which weaves into one story the life and adventures of Jason

Lee and Marcus Whitman, then pioneering in the Great Northwest, and their missionary work among the Indians.

Paper, 40c

* Making Life Count
by Eugene Foster.

A vocational book from the Christian point of view, planned especially to meet the needs of the boys and girls who leave grammar school to go to work. Suggestions to Leaders, 10c.

Cloth, 60c; paper, 40c

Under Marching Orders
by Ethel Daniels Hubbard.

The fascinating story of Mary Porter Gamewell, one of the most unique pioneers of missions in the Celestial Empire. The book is not a staid biography, but a well-penned sketch of a heroic character in the midst of "peril, toil, and pain."

Cloth, 60c; paper, 40c

The Black Bearded Barbarian
by Marian Keith.

The life story of George Leslie Mackay, of Formosa. American Youth says of it: "All workers with boys should welcome this little volume. It has camp fire stuff in it. It is not only the sort of book to awaken missionary interest, but it is the sort to make a boy enthusiastic for heroism, perseverance, patience, sacrificial service, and loyalty to Jesus Christ."

Cloth, 60c; paper, 40c

* Servants of the King
by Robert Speer.

A series of eleven sketches of the lives of home and foreign missionaries, which bring to the attention of young people the devotion and self-sacrifice of great characters in the Christian Church.

Cloth, 60c; paper, 40c

For juniors
(ages 9-11, (12))

* Red, Yellow, and Black
by Sophia Lyon Fahs.

A course of thirteen stories that will appeal to the hero-worshipping juniors. The first two stories tell about John Stewart, the first Methodist missionary, and his work with the American Indians. The following six show the beginning of our Central China Mission, in terms of such outstanding characters as Dr. Mary Stone, Dr. Ida Kahn, and Ida Gracey. The last five stories are about Herbert Withey, who went to Africa as a boy of twelve.

Price, 75c

The Land of the Golden Man
by Anita B. Ferris.

A book on South America for teachers and leaders of boys and girls nine to twelve years of age.

The book contains stories well illustrated, with suggestions for their use, and things to do.

Cloth, 50c; paper, 30c

* Stories of Brotherhood
by Harold B. Hunting.

Designed primarily for reading and study by older juniors. Fifteen biographical stories of men and women whose lives have been spent in service to others in home and foreign lands. Well illustrated.

Suggestions to Leaders, 10c.

Cloth, 50c; paper, 30c

African Adventurers
by Jean Kenyon Mackenzie.

A junior study book on Africa, telling the story of Assam and Mejo, two native boy assistants in the mission schools of Cameroun.

Suggestions to Leaders, 10c.

Cloth, 50c; paper, 30c

For beginners and primary pupils
(ages 4-8)

* Friends of Ours
by Elizabeth Colson.

A well-illustrated, attractively bound book for older primary children, showing our dependence on other people, especially on those who are objects of our home and foreign missions.

Suitable for a gift book.

Cloth, 75c

The Book of Little Black Brother
by Emily Huntley.
A story of African child life for reading to young children. Profusely illustrated in two colors.
75c

Sui Li's Finger Nails
by Fanny L. Kollock.
A capital story of a Chinese girl in a mission school who gave her greatest treasure as a Christian gift. An eight-page leaflet for general distribution among younger girls and boys.
2c; $1.00 a hundred

METHOD

Material for the Guidance of Leaders

I. Books

Graded Missionary Education in the Church School
by Frederica Beard.
A progressive, correlated plan of missionary education in the Sunday School by which the missionary instruction may be related to the other teaching of the school and to the lives of the pupils.
Cloth, 75c

Missionary Education in Home and School
by Ralph E. Diffendorfer.
This book contains the results of fifteen years of study and work in the field of missionary education.
Mr. Diffendorfer believes that the qualities of the missionary life are possible for every Christian, and his new book shows parents and teachers how to develop the qualities of friendship, sympathy, helpfulness, co-operation, loyalty, justice, and generosity among growing boys and girls.

The book is written from the point of view of modern theory and practice in religious education.

It is non-technical in phraseology and is thoroughly practical, both as a reading book for the home and as a teacher-training course of study for the church school.

Cloth, $1.50

The Missionary Education of Juniors: A Handbook for Leaders

by J. Gertrude Hutton.

The most valuable study of principles, methods, and material for character building through missionary education for boys and girls nine to twelve years of age, yet published. The first of a new series of graded texts to cover the whole field of missionary education.

50c, prepaid

Missionary Methods for Sunday School Workers

by George H. Trull.

A more advanced manual of methods for graded schools, containing an abundance of valuable suggestions, a catalog of good missionary books, diagrams, charts, and other helps.

SUPPLEMENTARY

POSTERS

A series of eight striking cartoons has been printed in poster form, to accompany the Centenary programs. Boardman Robinson, one of New York's best-known artists, working under the direction of the Centenary Committee, produced the series. Four posters relate to distinctively home missionary problems; while the other four depict foreign missions. Artistically beautiful, and educationally effective, these posters, if given a prominent place before the school, will prove an invaluable reinforcement of the monthly missionary programs. The illustration on opposite page is a reproduction of one cartoon in the series.

Price, 50c the set, postpaid

PLEDGE CARDS

To be used in securing the pupil's pledge to the Centenary.

Price, 10c per hundred, postpaid

LITTLE FRIENDS FROM OVER THE SEA

CENTENARY ENVELOPES

A small envelope printed without date in deep red ink on Kraft paper, for the weekly missionary offering during the Centenary. (Recommended for all schools except those where the duplex envelope is in use.) Ordinarily, the pupil should be given only envelopes enough for one quarter in advance.

Price, 10c per hundred, postpaid

Lantern Slides

A number of small lantern-slide lectures has been prepared expressly for Sunday School use. They form one of the most important means of getting the missionary message across. About fifteen slides to the set. First slide contains a missionary hymn; second slide contains a selection of scripture for responsive reading; remaining slides are beautifully colored pictures. Can be used as a missionary program. Only twelve to fifteen minutes required. Write for further information.

The following sets are now ready:

South America—The Country
A brief survey of this land of opportunity.

South America—The People
A short visit with the people of our sister continent.

Life of Dr. Mary Stone
The story of how the first woman in western China to grow up with unbound feet has become China's most famous doctor.

Life of Bishop Honda
